

WHY SUPPORT THE COMPLETE RESTORATION OF THE CATHEDRAL

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS :

- I thought Notre-Dame had raised enough money after the fire—what remains of the 2019 fundraising campaign?

The €140 million remaining after repairs related to the fire and the cathedral's reopening in 2024 represents a significant sum still available, thanks to careful budget management of the works carried out since 2019. However, it will not be enough to complete all the restorations required for the cathedral's full restoration, as it was already in poor condition when the fire struck.

- I thought the restoration was finished—what still needs funding?

The five years of work made it possible to rebuild the cathedral and reopen it after 2019. What remains now is to restore damage unrelated to the fire: the great rose windows, the transept façades, the exterior elevations of the nave on both sides, the towers and their chimeras, the chapel stained-glass windows, the presbytery, and complementary works (technical facilities, fire safety systems for the belfries, and filtration systems).

- Why support the cathedral's full restoration?

Supporting the cathedral's full restoration means contributing to a decisive phase in returning it to its full splendor. It also associates your company's name with an iconic project, recognized for exemplary management and international influence.

Your commitment becomes part of a meaningful endeavor driven by values such as excellence in craftsmanship, unity, and transmission, while supporting the training of new generations of artisans. It also offers recognition commensurate with your contribution.

- Is my donation eligible for a tax deduction?
